Wehrmacht Chiefs Lived Day-to-Day In Fear of Fuehrer

By JACK FLEISCHER

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

BERCHTESGADEN, May 31.—(UPI)—Most of Hitler's Wehrmacht generals lived from day to day in sweating uncertainty whether they were the Fuehrer's fair-haired boys or on his blacklist.

No longer as a general was winning battles and carrying out Adolf's orders without question he usually did all right. But the surest way for a field commander to fall from favor was to dispute any of the Fuehrer's dictates.

As the details of the battles, the losses, the lack of equipment, the Field Marshal Von Braunscheit, or died mysteriously like Marshal Von Frisch. Just as often, Hitler found him in the front field marshal back into active service, even if he got rough, as he did with Gerd von Rundstedt.

Only a few details are available so far about the ex-corporal's mystical juggling of his general staff, but a good idea of his capricious ways from these professional militarists is contained in a short-hand record of a headquarters conference held in Berlin last Jan. 27.

Gen. Alfred Jodl, chief of the combined general staff, and Reichsmarschal Hermann Goering told the Fuehrer that the question of co-ordinating the west front campaign would have to be settled.

"Yes," said Hitler, "I want to know what you think about that. Many orders have been given, but they are not being followed."

Gen. Student then in command of the German army in Holland has become very tired."

Goering immediately rose to Student's defense, pointing out that:

Claims Aid Promised

Houde Says Canada Caused Great Britain to Enter War

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

MONTREAL, May 31.—On the subject of war participation Mayor Camille Houde, campaigning for the Bloc Populaire, has told his audience that Canada was responsible for Britain going to war.

Great Britain, he argued, probably never would have entered the war against Germany if Canada had not promised aid to Britain.

He said that Canada had not promised aid to Britain until after the attack on Pearl Harbor, and that it was only then that Britain entered the war.

Houde continued his whirlwind campaign and has scheduled a week-long tour of the provinces, visiting North Bay and Sudbury, Ontario, and Amos, Rouville, Chicoutimi, Saguenay and Shawinigan in Quebec. Liberal candidates charge an agreement between the Bloc Populaire and Progressive Conservative candidates.

One move significant was the action today of two Canadian Congress of Labor unions to the C.C.P. formed their own independent political party.

Two Separate Pincers Closed On Shuri Yaps

By WILLIAM B. TYREE

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

WASH., May 31.—(UPI)—U.S. Tenth Army forces closed two separate pincers around perhaps thousands of Japanese in near-conquered Shuri in northern Okinawa today.

Radio Tokyo conceded that its main defense line had collapsed and said the critical stage in the 61-day battle for Okinawa was over.

In Shuri itself, marines of the First Division raised the Stars and Stripes over 15th century Shuri castle, shelling former Japanese army headquarters, at 1:45 p.m. yesterday.

CLING TO POSITION

Japanese suicide squads still clinging to strong positions, stilling the Japanese naval high command was designed to prepare all branches of the imperial army for a "tokyo attack suicide" tactics.

"The strategy that Japan must naturally take is to launch her suicidal attack," the Japanese high command said in a broadcast today.

In the last week suicide pilots of the Japanese navy, attacking U.S. ships in the Okinawa waters, 325 miles south of Japan, have sunk one light American naval unit and damaged 26 others.

Ranking Japanese admirals, today said, were resigned to ports where their experience in developing suicide assaults could be employed to the greatest advantage in extending these kamikaze operations.

"We said 'over-all strategy' for suicide forces will be mapped by the navy chief of staff," the Japanese high command said today.

Troops Enter Area As France Warned To Cease Hostilities

PARIS, May 31.—(AP)—The London announcement that Britain is intervening in Syria against the French government today, and official papers refused all comment for the time being. Prime Minister Churchill, however, was delivered directly to Gen. de Gaulle, who immediately summoned a number of key ministers for consultation.

From C.P. AP and B.P. Dispatches

LONDON, May 31.—Under orders to take immediate action to stop the disturbances in Syria and Lebanon and limit the Arab-French disorders, which have lasted for 24 hours in order to seek a way out of the impasse, brings the British and French into a direct clash, and observers say the situation is "frayed with dynamite."

Prime Minister Churchill said that the serious decision to order British armed intervention was made to prevent a possible rupture of Allied communication lines to the Far East and to stop the senseless slaughter in Damascus.

President Truman has approved Gen. George C. Greer's intervention, Acting Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew said today.

Clement M. Attlee, leader of the British opposition in Britain, is forthcoming general election, told Commons everyone would "join in deploring the situation between our Allies," but under the circumstances we "had no right to expect any of our Allies to be responsible of endeavoring to restore order."

In a letter sent to General Charles de Gaulle the virtual ultimatum on France to cease hostilities in Syria and Lebanon, sent to Paris today from London.

ACT WITH REGRETS

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the Commons that he was "profoundly regretful" that Britain had taken the step of sending troops to Syria and Lebanon.

British Troops Ordered to Halt Levant Trouble

found it necessary to order its military commander in the Middle East to "intervene to prevent further effusion of blood in the interests of the security of the whole Middle East."

Amplifying this message Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said: "We have not acted until our overall responsibility was so serious that we simply had to act or stand by and see a situation develop which would have shamed all of us."

"In all the circumstances," he said gravely, "the British government have come to the conclusion that they can no longer stand aside and the Prime Minister has accordingly today sent the following message to Gen. de Gaulle:

ORDER INTERVENTION

"In view of the grave situation which has arisen between your troops and the Levant states and the severe fighting which has broken out, we have with profound regret ordered the Commander-in-Chief in the Middle East to intervene to prevent the further effusion of blood in the interests of the security of the whole Middle East, which involves the consideration of the war against Japan."

"In order to avoid a collision between British and French forces we request you immediately to order French troops to cease fire and to withdraw their barracks. Once firing has ceased and order been restored, we shall be prepared to begin a truce discussion here in London."

Mr. Eden spoke after a French spokesman in Paris had asserted that a direct collision between France and Britain was possible, and the British minister in Paris had insisted that outside intervention alone could resolve the crisis.

The Syrian minister in Paris declared only outside intervention could solve the crisis.

residents were evacuated.

colonies were evacuated from Damascus.

"After that," he added, "the centre of the city was subjected to the heaviest and most concentrated shelling yet directed upon it."

As he reported the ancient city had also been bombed from the air, cries of "same" echoed through the houses of Beirut.

The French no longer held the belief that the situation in Lebanon was "artificially created," and declared that if pressed they could produce documentary evidence to prove it.

The Syrian minister to France, Adnan Bey Akash, declared that foreign intervention alone could solve the problem. The only solution, he asserted, was for the French to clear out of Syria entirely.

DEMAND TROOPS GO

His statement issued just after a conference with Jefferson Caffery, United States ambassador in Beirut, said that the French troops be removed from the cities of the country.

The minister also stated that he had conferred several times with George Bissell, French foreign minister, but that the situation had become beyond the scope of diplomatic negotiations. He declared "simply ridiculous" French assertions that the crisis was created artificially.

Asked about a possible clash between the French and British the Syrian minister said:

"For the past 25 years, whenever the French got into difficulties, they have tried to explain it by blaming the British."

Intervention was decided upon by the British government after renewed fighting had broken out at several points in Syria. The first note had been received from the Egyptian government expressing alarm about the situation.

Damascus, it was reported, had been seriously damaged by shelling, mortar fire and bombardment from the air. The Syrian Chamber of Deputies had been ruined, and street fighting had again broken out after a two-hour truce between French troops and Syrian partisans to enable the city to collect their dead and wounded, had been broken. Over 300 were dead and large numbers of Syrians were being evacuated.

Nazi Generals Lived in Fear of Hitler Blacklist his record included command of the airborne invasion of Crete, and successful operations in the Mediterranean. He argued that the Hitler blacklist was a "blacklist of the German people and one of the best defensive leaders in the Wehrmacht."

NOT DAMNED ALONE

"Only Hitler, he's no damper," Goring concluded. "You might say he had a nerve to cause you not to know him. I'll take him back with you." (Student formation was a Luftwaffe commander under Goring.)

Hitler and Goring bickered over Student's capabilities for a time until Asof asked why the Reichsmarshal thought of Gen. Blaskowitz as being considered as the new commander in Holland.

"Students' little toe is worth more than all the Blaskowitzes," Goring retorted. "I know that, you'll see the con-g crisis, you'll curse and take him back."

"I don't forget," that day, Hitler retorted.

"No," said Goring, "but why should I permit such a bomb about a good man? You know him."

Hitler finally conceded that he remembered Student and that perhaps a good reason there was for his refusal to change his mind about Student.

CHANGES HIS TUNE

Goring then changed his tune and asked that Student be relieved of his command. There was no aspersions cast on his military record.

Hitler ignored him and went on to a discussion of SS General Paul Hausser, who was regarded as an important west front commander.

Although Hausser had Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler's backing, Hitler seemed to dislike him.

"He gives the impression of a racist," he complained. "He has a face and crafty eyes. I'm not sure he hasn't suffered from a recent fall from his last wound."

One of the SS headquarters chiefs, Herman Goering, was strongly in support of Hausser. He pointed out that Hausser had spent his life in the West front, facing the enemy in the front line, facing the enemy in the front line.

"I don't want that," Hitler told him sharply.

"He is a racist," Goering said. "I don't want to do that."

Goering persisted with accounts of Hausser's personal courage and loyalty. He said, repeatedly, he would like to see Hausser in the ground under enemy shellfire.

"I'd throw myself down," too," said Hitler sarcastically. "He has only one general who didn't throw himself down, and he didn't have anything."

Chinese Forces

Recapture Ishan

CHUNGKING, May 11.—(AP)—Chinese from Chungking reported today that Chinese forces had recaptured the railway station at Kweichow railway 45 miles west of the railway of Linchow, former capital of an important Japanese base.

Another Chinese column striking northward along the railway from Indo-China was reported with in miles of Linchow.

The new thrust to the flame-swept communications hub was disclosed by the Chinese high command, which reported the column advancing from the west, had by-passed Pingyang, 60 miles north of captured Yungling (Mann) and reached the vicinity of the strongly fortified Japanese positions at Chienkeng, 25 miles beyond. Fighting was in progress.

Another Chinese column was attacking Pingyang.

At the other end of the spreading wedge drive into the Japanese north-south corridor the Chinese reached a point 60 miles southwest of Nanning and 40 miles from Chienkeng on the highway to Longchow and Japanese-occupied French Indo-China.

Many Applications For Voting Changes

A total of 186 applications for corrections, additions and removals of names from the voters' list for the June 11 Dominion election were received by revision officers in the two Edmonton ridings during the first three days of this week when revising offices were open.

In Edmonton West riding, revising officer Bruce V. Mason reported the largest number of applications in that riding with a total of 221. There were 179 names added to the list in his office and 42 corrections made. One name was struck off at the request of a woman who said she was not of British birth and asked to have her name removed.

J. G. Piliu handled a total of 177 applications in the Alberta eastern district of the riding and Mrs. C. E. Bennett had 13 in the South district.

Reveal Details Balloon Bombs Sent by Japs

By KATHLEEN REX

VANCOUVER, May 11.—(CP)—Lifting of censorship rules reveals today details of the composition of the Japanese balloon bombs which for the last few months have been landing in Western Canada.

The balloons, of a five-foot type, contain 100 feet of gas and are released from the coast of Japan at a low level. Indeed it has been estimated that 30 of them would cost no more than the price of a cheap light airplane.

RELEASED IN JAPAN

Released from different spots in Japan the balloons travel east with the prevailing of the earth, 30 feet above its surface, and at approximately 80 miles an hour.

One of the balloons was shot down by an RCAF pilot in Western Canada. He took it when observation of the balloon was flashed to the air force by ground troops.

He was unable to climb to the transponder and report the sighting. Neither did he report the sighting would operate satisfactorily in the event of a sighting.

It is still being held. Standing it on its tail he gave the balloon several thrusts and brought it down.

Pat aircraft have been stationed at strategic points along the balloons line of flight. Their rate of travel enables them to rise and descend within a few seconds of spotting.

VARIED EQUIPMENT

Attached to the shrouds of the balloons is a bakelite square containing two batteries, a detonation charge and a small incendiary bomb. The batteries carried only one flash, once one was found carrying "fuses" like those used in the balloons.

As soon as the balloons hit the ground the detonation charge exploded, thus exploding the incendiary bomb. A small incendiary bomb in the side of the bag explodes when the balloon descends to a certain altitude and ignites the forest fires which several persons have seen in the sky have been from the burning of these bags.

Many conjectures have been made as to the plans of the Japanese for these balloons. Some believed the Japanese could send over this manner, anti-personnel bombs or even shots of phosphorus to set fire to crops and forests.

Yankees Split With Tigers Before Year's Biggest Crowd

NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP)—

The largest baseball crowd of the season, 67,816 paying customers, watched New York Yankees cling to first place in the American League by a two-game margin Wednesday by snapping a 3-2 decision for an even split with Detroit Tigers.

Steele Webb's square eye hunt scoring Doc Cramer from third in the ninth inning of the game gave the Tigers a 3-2 victory over the Yankees.

In the second out Strimling drove home two runs with a sixth inning single that gave Al Gettel the edge over Hal Newhouse as 3-2.

Recorded Message At Rotary Meet

A special recorded message to new members of the Edmonton Rotary club from officers of Rotary International was the feature of the recorded message which was played at the luncheon, meeting in the Macdonald hotel Thursday.

The meeting was devoted to the welcoming of 37 new members who joined Rotary since last July.

The recorded message, which was played at the luncheon, included greetings from Paul Harris, founder of Rotary International, Phil Lovejoy, secretary of the International organization, and Dick Wells, president.

George McNeill, president of the Edmonton club, presided, and Ralph Lloyd was in charge of the program.

Supreme Court Justices Plan to Hold Meeting

The first conference of the justices of the Supreme Court of Alberta will be held in the Spanish Room, Palliser hotel, Calgary, Friday and Saturday, and it is anticipated that an announcement made Thursday by Chief Justice W. R. Howson of the trial division.

The conference has several objects, among which are to commemorate the fact that the Chief Justice of Alberta, the Hon. Horace Harvey, has now spent more than half of his 82 years on the bench, and to generally improve the administration of justice within the province by bringing about as much uniformity in practice in all the courts as possible.

On Friday, June 1, a luncheon will be held at which Chief Justice Harvey will be the chairman. An opportunity will be given to the president of the Law Society of Alberta, G. H. Stier, K.C., and to the vice-president of the Canadian Bar Association, S. H. McCaig, K.C. to speak.

Chief Justice Howson will be host at a dinner to be held Friday evening, June 1, at which Hon. L. C. L. Sutherland, K.C., attorney-general for the province of Alberta, will be the speaker, and the chief judges of the district courts of Northern and Southern Alberta will also speak briefly.

His Honor, L. C. L. Sutherland, K.C., and Mrs. Brown, Premier Ernest Manning and Mrs. Manning, and Hon. W. A. Fallow, K.C., are expected to be present.

In the city from Dawson Creek, B.C., will be placed.

There has been a suggestion that some of the structures be located at the Camp 500 site, and others be land immediately south of the University of Alberta grounds.

In the meantime, letters will be called this week for the dismantling of the huts, their shipment to the city and re-erection here. The formal agreement on the project is now being drafted for signature by officials of the provincial and municipal governments.

It was discussed at city council Monday night, when the agreement was ratified, that the project will cost between $50,000 and $100,000.

Improvement City Schools Is Announced

Improvements to some city schools which are below standard in sanitation, lighting, ventilation and interior decoration, will be gone ahead with as speedily as possible, R. L. Sutherland, chairman of the Edmonton public school board said Thursday.

Accompanied by four members of the board and R. S. Sheppard, superintendent of schools, Mr. Sutherland inspected Allendale, King Edward Park and Forest Heights schools, at the invitation of the Home and School associations of the schools.

NOT SO GOOD
The chairman said that conditions, particularly in some of the outlying schools, are "not as good as they should be."

He said that one of the main obstacles in improving facilities at these three particular schools is the fact that they are not on sewer connections. He explained that King Edward Park is supplied with water but that the other two students must carry it.

Mr. Sutherland remarked that board members were fully aware that improved facilities were required in some schools but that they had to work toward their goal gradually.

Fluorescent lighting has been installed in some schools, re-decoration has been going on in those which needed it most, and will be continued during the summer.

Six Survey Parties To Plot Landmarks
Six survey parties, two geological and four topographical, will operate in the Edmonton area, west to the British Columbia boundary this summer, according to H. C. Spence, Ontario, department of mines and resources official, who arrived in Edmonton on Thursday.

Members of his party include M. E. Nidd, Dr. E. J. W. Irish, who will lead one of the geological surveys, Dr. A. Lang, now on the ground leading the second geological party, A. M. Fildes and J. V. Hutter, North.

The survey is being conducted in plot landmarks or controls which can be easily identified on aerial photographs. This is the initial stage of the survey to gather complete data of the area.

Minister of Public Works Gives High Wind Fans Blaze

Most "Fiery" Address In North

Hon. W. A. Fallow figures he delivered the most fiery address in the current federal election campaign to date on his recent trip to the north country.

The Alberta minister of public works was just starting to deliver an address at a meeting in Grande Prairie, when a high wind in support of the Social Credit candidate, when the hall started to fill with smoke.

ALMOST SURROUNDED
It was reported that the hall was almost surrounded by a noisy mob fired by a high wind.

Mr. Fallow decided to be no hero for he was suggested that the meeting be called off and every body, including himself turn out to fight fire.

The meeting made Mr. Fallow's resolution unanimous and for a time everybody was beating out the fire.

Later a forest ranger and some firefighters arrived and brought the main fire under control.

Mr. Fallow inspected road work while on his trip north.

The Inquiring Reporter
THE QUESTION:
The continuing outbreak of bush fires and grass blazes has kept the city fire department on the jump ever since the departure of the winter snow. How do you think they can best be prevented?

THE ANSWERS:
BOB TORRANCE, business man:
The old question of cigarette butts, and the fact that they are not on sewer connections. He explained that King Edward Park is supplied with water but that the other two students must carry it.

HAL EMERY, union man:
Everybody should be on the tip to fight the grass fire menace. If a hot sharp stamping in the neck and in the do the stamping out.

ESTHER MONTGOMERY, clerk:
People who set fires on vacant lots with the idea of burning away dead grass and other accumulated rubbish should make sure they need not on sewer connections. He explained that King Edward Park is supplied with water but that the other two students must carry it.

Short Talks
by Hon. Jas. A. MacKinnon

This is addressed primarily to the young men and women who will, on June 11, cast their first vote.

By your vote you have a direct and definite say in the affairs of this nation. The responsibilities of citizenship were never so important as they are now.

I ask you to apply these tests to the men who ask for your support. Are the men before you being made by the various candidates reasonable, or are they exaggerated, or partisan in character?

What party can have the best working majority and thus form a strong and forward-looking government? What candidates have the most experience? What party has the most detailed knowledge of our national problems?

I suggest, when you have weighed up all the issues and candidates very carefully in your mind what you will find that the present Dominion Government deserves a clear and decisive mandate from you and your friends.

If you agree with this I would ask that on June 11, in the Dominion West, you mark your ballot thus:

HONOURABLE JAMES A. MACKINNON

Charges Sugar Factory Closed

In a sugar short world a factory at Chatham, Ont., in the midst of one of the greatest sugar growing countries in Canada and capable of turning out 60,000,000 pounds of sugar annually, has been idle for the last two years, and will be idle again this year, because of the Liberal government's handling of the nation's sugar.

Mr. J. A. MacKinnon, M.P., Liberal member of parliament, said at a meeting at King Edward school, about 15 persons attended.

This factory was closed because there was insufficient labor to maintain it. The secretary of the factory said that the factory supply the factory with the raw material to manufacture the sugar.

As a result of the failure of the government to direct men to this factory, 120,000,000 pounds of sugar has been lost to the Allied Nations, and a further 60,000,000 pounds will be lost this year.

Mr. J. A. MacKinnon again outlined the Progressive Conservative party's platform for the rehabilitation of veterans and spoke briefly of the party's support of the government's manpower policy.

Tailored-to-Measure Suits

37.50 to 40.00

Back to civitas is now the order of the day. Edmonton's demobilized personnel of army, air force and navy are returning in groups and in many instances their most pressing need is a smartly tailored suit. And through the co-operation of Fashion-Craft, Johnstone Walker's is ready to assist you to a fresh start with a Fashion-Craft tailored suit made specially for YOU!

Each demobilized man is given an order headed "Priority Buy" and "Purchase Certificate" which must bear the ship's stamp on the date stamped on it for it to have no value after one month.

These suits are to be had in two- and three-button styles in a good choice of patterns in all wool, tweeds in grey and fawn mixtures—some faced with bright colors—also time striped suitcases in navy, brown and black.

Priced at . . . $37.50 and $40.00

Short Talks
by Hon. Jas. A. MacKinnon

This is addressed primarily to the young men and women who will, on June 11, cast their first vote.

By your vote you have a direct and definite say in the affairs of this nation. The responsibilities of citizenship were never so important as they are now.

I ask you to apply these tests to the men who ask for your support. Are the men before you being made by the various candidates reasonable, or are they exaggerated, or partisan in character?

What party can have the best working majority and thus form a strong and forward-looking government? What candidates have the most experience? What party has the most detailed knowledge of our national problems?

I suggest, when you have weighed up all the issues and candidates very carefully in your mind what you will find that the present Dominion Government deserves a clear and decisive mandate from you and your friends.

If you agree with this I would ask that on June 11, in the Dominion West, you mark your ballot thus:

HONOURABLE JAMES A. MACKINNON

Considerate Father Lends a Helping Hand

Mothers Deserve Some Relaxation Away From Noisy Children: Fathers Should Remember This and Help Out a Bit

DEAR MISS DIX:—I have a very good husband. He is also such a good father that he never will get out anywhere, except of course, to his work, without the children, aged 8 and 4, and that spoils the outing for me, for you know what a care small children are when they are away from home.

My father, who is very careful, will stay with the children gladly whenever we ask him, but that does not content my mother, who says continually, "I don't like to leave the children. Something might happen to them while we are away." He shows that he isn't enjoying himself, which, of course, kills my pleasure and makes me feel that I am being a neglectful mother.

Now I love my children, but I get on my nerves and make me nervous. I know I would be a better mother if I didn't have to have them always hanging on to my skirts. Of course, I could go by myself or with my friends, but I want to go out with my husband and have a carefree time for a few hours.

I have told my husband how I feel and that I need an occasional evening away from them, but he only says he wishes he could do it with them all day and night, as I am. What is my advice?

ANSWER:—A sure cure would be for you to go out on a visit and leave the children with him for a few days and nights. Let him have an unbroken day of his own society as you have; let him have to pick up all the million things that you have to do for him, and let him have to pick up all their messes.

Use Odds and Ends

By ALICE BROOKS

I have three sisters and four brothers, all married, who could take care of my mother, but who never contribute to her support.

My fiancé is in California and he wants me to come out there and be married. When I tell my mother she cries and says she will die if I leave her. My problem is to get to California and marry my sweetheart and leave my brothers and sisters to take care of my mother.

ANSWER:—You have done your duty by your mother. Now let your brothers and sisters take care of her. You have to be sure the seven of them could shoulder a burden that you have borne alone. About the surest trait in human nature is the way that we save our own skins and elect one of them as the family scapegoat, while the balance of them scatter.

DEAR MISS DIX:—I wish to be an actress. What are the qualifications that I should have to become an actress?

ANSWER:—The one absolutely necessary qualification is to have a success as an actress is to have talent. Just to want to be an actress isn't enough. You have to have histrionic ability. It is a gift. You have to have it before you waste your time and money trying to get on the stage.

DEAN TRENDLE
Speaks to WMS

"Civilization hasn't simply been turned back a thousand years. The long history of humanity turns back no other such shocking examples of human depravity and bestiality as those found in the horror camps of Germany. Nevertheless," said the Very Rev. Dean A. M. Trendle, speaking before the Women's Missionary Society of St. Michael's United Church, "we must put hate out of our hearts in our dealings with our enemies. That does not mean that the German people must not suffer for their sins."

"Another thing we must remember is to be kind to our friends. Criticism of friends and allies, those who stand beside us in our darkest hour must be avoided."

"Only by following the example of Christ can we hope to win peace and build a new world."

Mrs. L. D. Parney, president, presided, and Mrs. A. M. Neilson was in charge of the devotions.

Mrs. Norman Duke distributed material for "housewives" to be made for prisoners of war released from Japanese camps.

Mrs. Richard Jenkins gave a review of the fifth chapter of the study book "West of the Date Line."

The French slang word "chic" meaning superficial smartness dates from 1870, when it was introduced to lawyers who were masters of "chicane" or legal trickery.

Points for Parents

This Not This
Mother: "You may take your choice, Ellen. Either quit school and be pleasant, or go to your room where you will not make the rest of us unhappy."

Mother: "I wish we could have a happy mealtime as they do at home. Anna's father in the family is always out-of-control. It seems to me."

It takes more than wishing to achieve a pleasant family meal time.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

SCLERODERMA (HARDENING OF THE SKIN)

I consulted many doctors who did not recognize my condition. They thought it might be Raynaud's disease, adrenal gland trouble, gout, etc. Finally I entered a hospital for two weeks' observation and study and they decided I had Scleroderma, which I gather is rare.

In the hospital and since they have given me courses of injections of "shee" with no apparent benefit. I am, especially on arms, chest and legs become brown, rough and dry. In the hospital they made a skin biopsy to confirm the diagnosis, and informed me that the skin contained no calcium. They were unable to account for this lack of the normal amount of calcium in the skin, in view of the fact that I was taking a form and have all ways included in my diet plenty of milk, cheese, etc., containing calcium. There's pain in all joints. Hands have become hard and stiff. I can't close them. I am the more distressed by this because I'm deaf, and using my hands and fingers means a lot to me, both for sign language to our people and for writing those who hear or for those who do not read the sign language. I don't mind being deaf, as I have been deaf.

(Signed) ———, That describes scleroderma as well as the medical books do. This condition is a mystery to physicians. I hesitate even to mention it in 51 selected today's hand from the Masters' Individual because in some cases the experts went down as much as two tricks, while in some as five or more were made.

The most difficult opening was the heart, which declarer must win with the queen. If you attempt to draw the queen you can make four if you are careful. However, the players that made five did it.

Did you sleep well last night?

Are you good at Baby Talk?

What did you hear them say?

What does the picture suggest to you? What do you think they are saying? What would you say? Give your imagination free rein and sketch a picture of the scene. It may be long or short—but if it's good it may win you a prize.

At bedtime, Ovaltine helps to relieve that feeling of nervous tension. Its special blend of elements, processed for easy digestion, and its rich source of vitamins A, B, and D and the minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron help to replenish worn out muscle, nerve and body cells.

So why not try Ovaltine? See if it doesn't help you to wake up fresher and more buoyant. Get Ovaltine at your drug or food store.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDER

Every baby needs affectionate handling and loving. In the schedule of the good baby there does not seem to be too much opportunity for such treatment.

Mother longs to hold and pet him. Grandma wishes she could rock him and "doodle" says the baby should be left in his crib and not upset by too much nervous stimulation.

Now if I had scleroderma I'll tell you what I'd do.

There is an ideal time in the day for the mother and the grand mother to show this precious baby how much they love him. That time is the "crazy" period, for most babies, which comes at the end of a day, between about four and six o'clock.

At this time to divest baby of his wrinkled and perhaps dampish garments and let him lie, attired only in a diaper, on a wide bed in a warm room. On this he can stretch and roll, wave his arms and legs, and kick and push the bed and push himself about and all this to the tune of his parent or grandparent's adoring exclamations.

When he gets tired on his back he can be transferred to his rigid little stomach and get a whole new estimate of his world from this astounding angle. He'll lift his head and let it flop again and exercise himself in more ways than anyone could think up for him.

When he has used up his whole repertoire of body movements he'll welcome being taken up by his mother and carried about the room. Or he'll love being cuddled in his grandparents' arms and rocked and rocked. He should be put to sleep, that's the object of the routine. But just to love him, lift him up, hold him, soothe him, so that he gets a comforting idea of how important he is to these grown-up about him.

Then when he is fretful and crying and bedtime is close, wash him off swiftly, put on clean, unperfumed garments and rock him into bed. The handling may tire him but with it he gets necessary doses of motherly love without which he is poorly cared for, no matter what his physical advantages.

Our leaflet, "Formula and Early Feeding," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Elder, in care of this newspaper.

By winning the first heart trick and then leading a small club.

If West can't win the honors, the trick was won with the nine in dummy and the east cashed immediately. Now a spade was led. West won. West could cash the king of clubs and lead another trump.

Due to the fact that the queen lack of diamonds was blank, the declarer picked up the trump and dummy was good.

HOLD EVERYTHING—They, close it up! I'm not ready yet!

Mrs. A. E. Cook Addresses WMS

Wesley Women's Missionary Society held its May meeting recently in the church, when Mrs. A. E. Cook gave an address on temperance.

Eighteen members were present, and it was announced that Mrs. E. T. Searff, Mrs. C. Smith and Mrs. W. H. Stierne will serve on the program committee for June. Mrs. A. E. Moore, Mrs. G. P. Johnson and Mrs. E. T. Searff will attend the affiliation service and Mother and Daughter banquet on June 5.

It was announced that a tea will be held sponsored by the Edmonton Presbytery, at the Basil Institute, on June 6. Proceeds will be used for the Fresh Air Camp.

Mrs. J. Henderson reported 20 new members on the Baby Band list. Mrs. W. T. Bowrey reported 22 calls made during the month.

Church Festival

Met Planned For Next Week

Mrs. J. H. Elliott, North Bay, Ont., the Dominion jockey secretary, arrives in Edmonton Sunday and will attend the second session of the third annual meeting of the Church of England, YWA and Girls' Festival, to be held in Christ church parish hall, June 4.

Supper will be served at 5:30 p.m. and competitions in singing and dramatics will be judged immediately afterwards.

The festival opens on Saturday at 2 p.m. in Holy Trinity church with the Rev. L. M. Watts conducting the opening services. On Friday, June 4, at 7:30 p.m. in All Saints' parish hall, a program and presentation of awards will take place. All interested persons are cordially invited to attend.

Entries have been received from city and country branches, and competition in the various sections will be quite keen. Two silver challenge cups are at stake, the Margaret Fane Memorial cup for junior competition, and the Dominion Rural Church League trophy for the senior branch must enter at least four teams in order to be eligible.

There are eight sections altogether with handicraft, Christian symbolism, singing, reading and choral speaking proving most popular. Most sections will be judged on Saturday afternoon, and leaders are requested to note times on the sheet mailed out.
